Topic of my Presentation

REGIONAL VARIATIONS IN LEARNING ENGLISH

Background

English is a global language with diverse forms and accents. It varies depending on the region where it is spoken. These variations in pronunciations, accents and even vocabulary can pose barriers to learners.

Research Questions

1. What are the types of regional variations that create barriers to learn English?
 2. What challenges do English language learners encounter due to regional differences?
 3. How do regional variations pose difficulties for English language learners?
 4. What are the solutions to these problems?

General Objective

To find out the impact of regional variations in learning English language, the students come from Khulna and Rajshahi Divisions studying at English Discipline in Khulna University.

Specific Objectives

- ❖ To explore the types of regional variations that create barriers to learn English
- ❖ To find out the challenges of the English language learners due to regional variations.
- ❖ To give some probable solutions of the problem

Literature Review

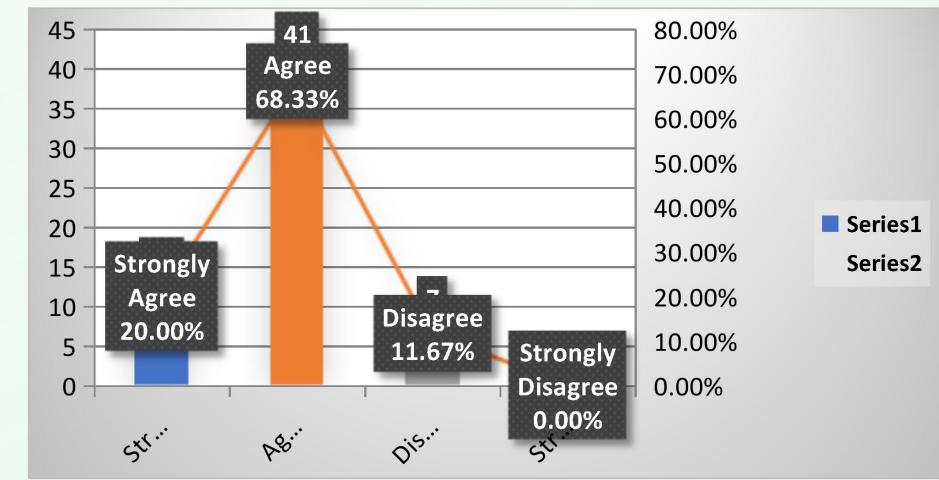

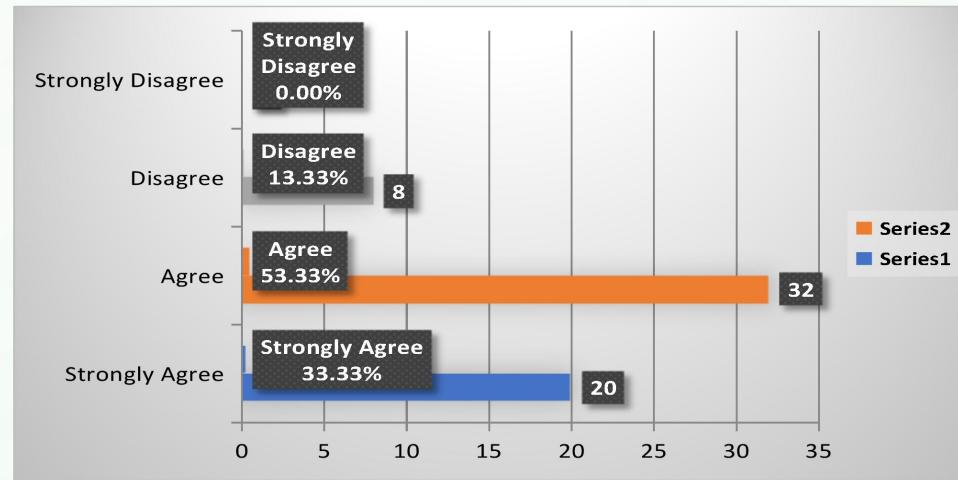

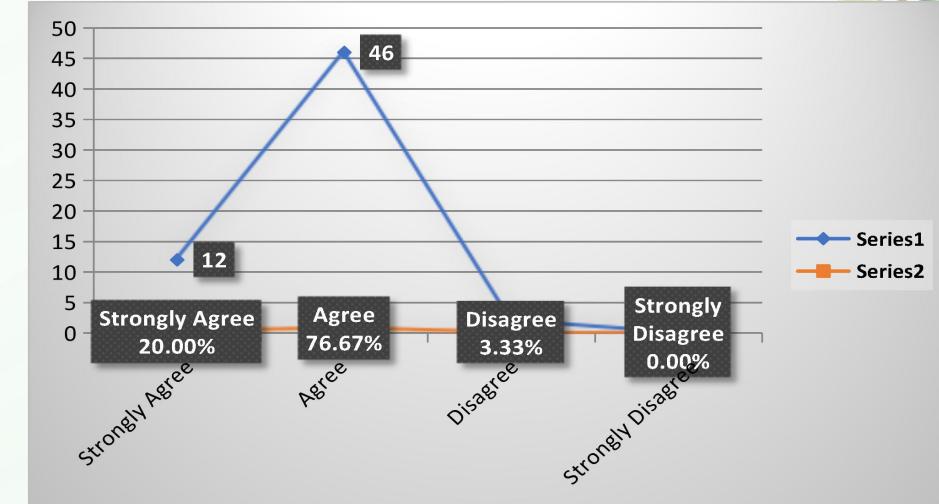

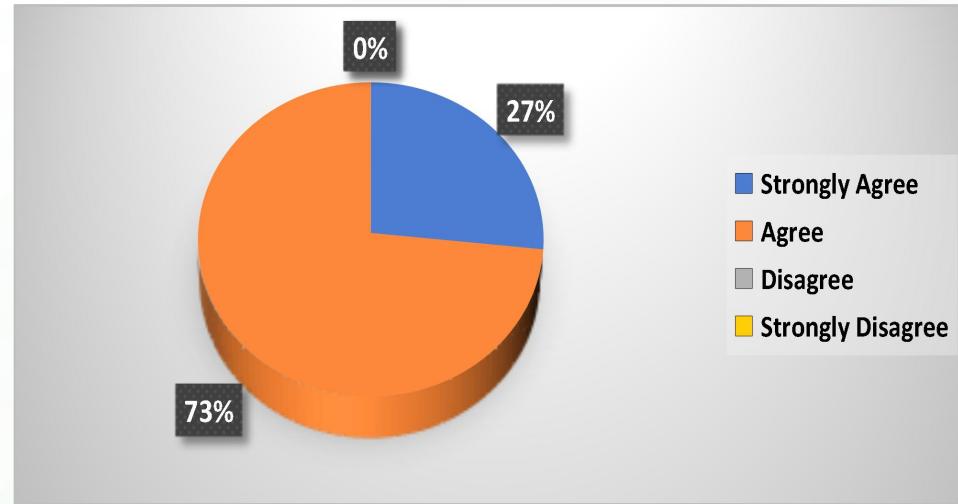

The concept of regional variations has been defined differently by various researchers over the years. Several researches have been conducted on different areas of English language and I have selected the area of regional variations in learning English.

Data Analysis

The collected data have been analyzed according to the objective of the study. To satisfy my research objectives and research question, the collected data has been explained and analyzed by different techniques. I have used the data using software like Microsoft Word and Excel. The percentage has been demonstrated through table and pie chart.

Conclusion

Proficiency in the English language is essential for securing good job opportunities. However, the presence of regional variations in English can pose challenges for the learners. As English is not our native language, regional dialects impede our speaking proficiency.

A wide-angle photograph of a sunset over a body of water, likely a lake. The sky is filled with horizontal clouds, colored in shades of orange, yellow, and purple. The sun is a bright yellow orb positioned low on the horizon. In the foreground, dark silhouettes of mountain peaks are visible, some with snow-capped tops. The water reflects the warm colors of the sunset. A thin vertical strip of green is visible along the left edge of the frame.
